

Title: Renewal Theory of Universal Origin with Relation to Energy

Zobbia Hasnaat, Shakira Aiman

Introduction and Background:

A number of theories are proposed on how our universe was originated which include Big Bang theory, Steady State theory, Inflationary theory, Cyclic Models, Multiverse theory and Quantum Creation theories etc. Some of them are widely accepted, a few of them are proved partly, while many of them are still doubtful. Big Bang theory explains the beginning of universe through a singularity and keep expanding after that. Then an extensive version of Big Bang came known as Inflation theory which sorted out many other problems. Here are our observations on this vast topic which states the following problems;

How the universe, cosmos and galaxies are so stable; why inflation happened, after inflation what left behind and it's relationship with energy.

Universal Origin:

Universe began with a singularity (a dot). For thousands of years, there was a singularity being the purest energy. After years, positive and negative charges began to produce within it, in a stuck environment. They began to repel each other more than attraction of opposite charges. Because of this, the dot inflated due to internal pressure as there was nothing outside, no outer environment, no space, no pressure, just nothing. After inflation, universe spread out far away. Dimensions began to form after inflation, layer by layer in a circular way. There is layering between every dimension, thus they are separated from each other. There are not different universes, it's just different dimensions within a single universe. A spot was left behind after inflation that was just pure energy. It is the center point of all the dimensions and connected with all of them. When the dimensions were spread upto a certain limit, this universal center stopped further spread of dimensions and began to make everything stable. Every single thing in this universe is connected to this center point and gets energy and stability from here. It gives stability to everything. This is actually the 'supreme' dimension known as "peace and harmony" which is the center point of the entire universe.

Dark Matter or Universal Energy (UE):

According to “self-interacting dark matter” theory, “dark matter is a mysterious particle that don’t interact/emit/absorb the light, making it difficult to detect, but played an important role in the formation of galaxies and the evolution of the universe. Dark matter pulls galaxies together”. However, it’s not the dark matter which is holding the galaxies, it’s the universal energy from the center point (of universe) which is holding every single particle in the universe, from small atoms to galaxies and cosmos. Matter is itself made up of energy, 99.9% of an atom is energy, and the rest of 0.1% exists in the form of subatomic particles which are also made up of energy. It means we are all energy.

5% of the universe is matter while 95% of it is energy. Matter doesn’t have power to control this 95% energy. So how can we say that it’s dark MATTER which is holding the galaxies and universe. It cannot hold or stabilize the universe, it is energy that brings stability and harmony in everything. We being matter think that matter is more powerful than energy. We assume some shape of energy. However, it’s a property of energy that it changes its form and shape, that’s why when we want to see anything in matter, it will show us as we want. Same as when it comes to universal stability and discipline we assume things like dark matter because we don’t want to think beyond matter.

Matter can’t understand and access energy. For this, we need energy.

How Universal Energy UE can control over matter:

Energy is something that can’t be stuck or bound. Everything that exists as matter is a deception but energy is not. (“Quantum experiments in space confirms that reality is what you make it. i.e; A photon is a particle and a wave until you choose how to measure it”, showing that everything is an illusion and deception). Energy is limitless. It can change shapes. It can be anywhere at any time.

We have light (as energy). It has fastest speed that we can’t beat it. We need more speed than this to figure out more universal dimensions. If we want to go there using matter to find and explore outer universe, it’s impossible. For this purpose, we need some energy medium.

Energy can be understand by thoughts (pure energy), as we can think willfully and make images willfully, the same way energy can get any form or shape willfully. It can create things what it want.

Telescopes and satellites are matter; so they can’t get speed of light. How could they be able to give us more information about universe. For this purpose, something is needed that exists as energy.

Minds and Consciousness:

If thoughts and feelings are neglected from us, then what are we? Life wouldn’t exist like this.

Our thoughts, feelings (pain, happiness, sorrow, peace, joy, anger, understanding ability, memories, imagination) are energy that can’t be seen or feel but exist everywhere without limit. It means it is connected to supreme dimension.

Our minds and hearts are connected with the pure energy of supreme dimension. We feel that energy in the form of thoughts and feelings. When we want to know about something in the universe, this pure energy sends us information.

Our minds detect and convert it to matter language which we understand i.e; shapes, size and imaginations. Things that actually exist in energy form, if we want to see them in matter form, energy will show us as if we want. ( PROOF: Quantum experiments in space confirms that reality is what you make it. i.e; A photon is a particle and a wave until you choose how to measure it).

Computer only knows machine language while user knows both human and machine language. Same like this, energy has greater consciousness; It can understand both energy and matter but it communicates with us only in matter language. This is why we begin to make shapes and images whenever we want to understand anything about universe. As we cannot understand energy language, so it shows us energy things in matter form, i.e; for gravity, we began to look for particles like graviton (no proof of existence till now), as our minds are unable to understand that anything could exist in pure energy form. Even if we try to think in terms of energy our minds will be confused and again try to find out a shape of energy. It has a barrier that we are matter so everything exists in matter.

It is often observed that once a scientist gives a theory and then after years of his death, someone else proves it with experimental evidence. For example; Einstein proposed theory of general relativity in 1915, but it was confirmed in 1919, when astronomers observed the bending of starlight around the sun during a solar eclipse, as Einstein predicted. Lemaitre proposed the Big Bang theory in 1920s, suggesting that the universe originated from a singular point and has been expanding ever since. It was confirmed with strong evidence by discovery of cosmic microwave background radiation (CMB) in 1965, came after Lemaitre's death in 1966.

This is because when a person gets into a state of peace, observing the universe, he is connected to the supreme dimension through thoughts, and supreme dimension opens up the universal secrets to him. This is why it often happens that a scientist gives a theory first and it is proved years after that. Genius minds are often observed as introverts; and extroverts with deep thinking and habits of being lonely at times. But this is all about connection to the pure energy. Because the pure energy is all peace and harmony. However, all the thoughts are not from supreme dimension, some are created in our own minds as thoughts can create images (being an energy), thus thoughts should be differentiated that which one is coming from the supreme dimension and which is created in our minds.
